MOKENA BOY IS MISSING IN ACTION

Wabash Tower Man Killed South of New Lenox

Walter Dailey, 45 years old, a switch tower operator for the Wabash and the E. J. & E. railroads and hired by the Wabash to man the tower at Brisbane south of New Lenox was killed sometime Sunday night by a "J" freight train, the body being found on the right of way about a quarter of a mile from Brisbane by a freight train crew at 5:15 Monday morning.

It is presumed Dailey was walking along the tracks and that two passing trains perhaps confused him and he stepped out of the path of one train into the way of another. He had suffered a skull fracture. He had been boarding at the home of Mrs. Octavia Pugh in New Lenox. Last winter he had worked for the Wabash at Orland Park.

He is survived by his wife and six children residing at Catlin, Ill.

The Will County coroner's office was notified and Coroner Dr. E. A. Kingston had the body removed to the Western Funeral parlors in Joliet. The body was later sent to Catlin for services and burial.

L. G. Bruder To Open New Coal Yard At Mokena

L. G. Bruder of Mokena who has been active in the coal business in Chicago and other cities since 1892, is going to open a new coal yard in Mokena soon. He has leased a piece of land from the Rock Island railroad on the south side of the depot and has placed an order for the necessary scales and an electrical conveyor. He will handle a variety of coal including stoker coal.

Mr. Bruder advises the new business will operate under the name of L. G. Bruder Coal Co. Assisting him will be his daughter, Miss Catherine Bruder as secretary and his son L. G. Bruder Jr. as treasurer.

Mr. Bruder expects to have a car of coal on track within another week or so.

MOKENA FOLKS ATTEND DEDICATION OF GREAT SKYLINER AT PARK RIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Maue of Mokena attended the dedication last Friday afternoon of the gigantic plane, Skymaster, the first one built at the Douglas Aircraft factory at Park Ridge, Ill. where the ceremony took place. Mr. Maue is employed at this place.

The Skymaster is the army's largest transport plane. The wings are 117 feet 6 inches from tip to tip. The fuselage is 93 feet 10 inches and the top of the rudder is 27 feet six inches above the ground. It weighs nearly 65,000 pounds fully loaded and can carry a small tank slung beneath the fuselage, or jeeps or a 105 mm. howitzer inside.

The plane belittles superlatives. It is not only the largest of the modern American transports, but performance statistics announced by company officials indicate it to be the most efficient.

With a full load it will cruise at 222 miles an hour at 10,000 feet altitude, using only 60 per cent of the power of the four engines.

MISS BLENDA MONSON TO RECEIVE NURSE'S CAP

Miss Blenda Monson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Monson of Mokena-Tinley Park, is one of the twelve students who will receive their caps from the Silver Cross Hospital School of Nursing, at impressive ceremonies tonight in the First Baptist Church, Joliet.

The ceremony, which is open to the public, will start at 8 o'clock. When students have successfully completed their first six months of preliminary training, they are then permitted to wear the official cap of the nursing school.

Mrs. Alta M. Leonard, director of the School will extend the welcome to the audience and Dr. Matt Bloomfield, chief of the medical staff, will also bring greetings.

At the beginning of the actual ceremony, a candle will be lit to dedicate the spirit of nursing, another to honor Florence Nightingale, founder of modern nursing; a third, to honor the King's Daughters who established Silver Cross Hospital and the fourth, will represent the school, from which each student will light her candle, symbolizing that she is a part of the school.

PARADOX

This is a funny world,
Its wonders never cease,
All 'civilized' nations are at war,
All savages are at peace.

Mokena Family Has Narrow Escape From Death

Lloyd Warning and family of Mokena had a miraculous escape from serious injury, if not death, last Saturday night when the automobile they were riding in was sideswiped by a passing car and the side of the car was crushed in and broken glass was showered on the occupants.

The accident occurred after midnight two miles west of New Lenox. Mr. Warning was driving east on Lincoln Highway, when a Cadillac driven by Arthur Moye of 502 State Street, Joliet going west got over the black line of the pavement and side swiped the left side of the Warning car. The impact tore off the left front wheel of the Warning car and sent it in a spin for over 200 feet off the pavement over the old pavement to the left and it finally came to a stop when it bumped into the Rock Island railroad embankment. In the Warning car which fortunately remained upright, were Mr. and Mrs. Warning, their son Lee and Marion McCaullay of Chicago who was visiting at their home. The latter sustained a slight cut on the knee from a piece of broken glass, but the Warning family did not receive a scratch. All suffered from shock.

The Cadillac car did not fare so well. It skidded for several hundred feet and then rolled over, throwing the occupants out and seriously injuring several of them. Besides Arthur Moye, driver of the Cadillac which belonged to the F. E. Brown Cadillac Sales and Service, were Georgia Boyd, Paul Evans, Lester Johnson all of 502 State Street and Camella Grey, 612 Scott St., and Aron Chandler of Riley's hill, Lockport. Four of these people were injured and were taken to the Silver Cross hospital where one was later released.

Immediately following the accident Mr. Warning flagged down a passing truck and the driver got word to the sheriff's office in Joliet to send out the squad car and an ambulance. Deputies Ross White and Sherman Davis came out.

The Cadillac which was badly wrecked, was towed to Joliet by the Supreme Wrecking Co. and the Warning car was towed to Mokena by Cooper & Hostert.

The occupants of the Cadillac were returning from Chicago Heights to Joliet. They were colored people.

FRANKFORT RECEIVES BIDS FOR RE-SURFACING STREETS

Approval from Washington was recently received by the Village of Frankfort for the resurfacing of all streets. At Monday night's meeting of the village board low bids were received from A. C. Johnson and Co. for the asphalt and from Geo. Waldvogel of Frankfort for the stone. Work will begin within the next few weeks.

FRANKFORT TO REDUCE TRUCK TAX TO $5.00

Beginning September 15, the fee of $15.00 for commercial trucks delivering merchandise to the village of Frankfort will be reduced to $5.00. The tax, which is being assessed trucks in many villages was the subject of much controversy. In some cases the companies refused to pay the amount and quit deliveries.

FRANKFORT VILLAGE CLERK GIVEN RAISE IN SALARY

For his services as custodian of the Frankfort village hall, engineer and water-meter reader, village clerk Walter Pfaff, was given a raise in salary, from $15.00 to $30.00 a month when members of the board met at the village hall Monday evening.

FRANKFORT VILLAGE BOARD WRESTLES WITH UNLEASHED DOG PROBLEM

The subject of unleashed dogs was again brought up at the Frankfort village board meeting Tuesday night. It was announced that most dog owners had purchased a license for their pets but many are still allowed to roam about the streets. Complaints have been received and dog owners are again asked to keep their pets at home and on a leash and avoid any trouble that may arise from this nuisance.

FISHERMEN THREE BRING BACK TON BUT FEW FISH

The fishermen three, Morry Larson, Mokena, Rubie Tart, New Lenox and Henry Koehler, Tinley returned Sunday evening from a fishing trip to Shetek, Wis. But like most fishermen they reported very poor fishing and only brought back a very small amount of fish but plenty of sun tan.

ST. MARY PICNIC BIG SUCCESS
The recent annual picnic held by the St. Mary's parish in Mokena was a decided success, especially so in a financial way, over $600 being cleared by the affair.

Mokena Health Board Gives Report On Food Handlers

The State Board of Health at Springfield have had several complaints from Mokena residents that certain food and drink handlers in Mokena were operating very unsanitary places of business. The complaints were referred to the Will County Board of Health and Dr. Sharp dispatched an inspector to Mokena. The findings of the inspector were sent to the Mokena Board of Health. The officials Dr. E. G. McMahon, Oliver Schaffer and Robert Schlacks appeared before the village board Tuesday night and gave the report to them. The report which was lengthy gave a very particular account of very unsanitary conditions uncovered in one food dispenser's place. Among the things condemned was the sale of unpasteurized milk. The report pointed out that undulant fever, tuberculosis and other diseases often are caused by drinking raw milk. The County Board of Health offered to supply the Village Board of Health with a copy of a health ordinance which the village board ought to pass and also offer to co-operate with any future inspections required. The Mokena village board is considering the passing of such an ordinance. Whether the sale of unpasteurized milk in the village will be banned has not been stated.

ORLAND COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL REGISTRATION AUGUST 17 AND 18

Registration Orland Park Community High School, August 17 and 18, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. each day.

All students should make an effort to register on these days. Freshmen should register personally if possible. Upper classmen may have a student or parent register for them.

Subject offerings will be on the bulletin board. Students should be prepared to indicate subject choices at the time of registration.

Every effort is being made to have the home economics department functioning and registrations will be accepted for this department.

In order to finish earlier next spring, school will begin this year, Wednesday, Sept. 1. There will be no school on Labor Day, Mon. Sept. 6.

Bus transportation will be the same except for slight modifications, due to change in enrollment.

Only a few changes in textbooks are being contemplated and these changes will be indicated at the time of registration in as far as it is possible for us to do so.

Changes in time schedule and bus schedule will be announced later.

FRANKFORT FIREMEN TO PLAY ELWOOD ORDNANCE GIRLS

Batteries for the Frankfort Firemen who will play the Elwood Ordnance Plant Girls team are Stanley Johnson, pitcher, and Orval Schroeder, catcher. Pitcher for the girls team was not announced but Miss Lola Harnack of Frankfort will catch. The game will be played tonight under the lights at the Frankfort field.

FRANKFORT MAN HURT WHILE THRESHING

Orrin Deist had the misfortune to break an ankle while threshing oats Saturday. He was removed to Silver Cross Hospital for x-rays and returned to his home. He is to return to the hospital tomorrow when the bone will be set. Mr. Deist's oats were ready for threshing and since he will be unable to work for some time, his neighbors spent all day Sunday threshing for him.

NEW LENOX PTA TO SPONSOR SQUARE DANCE

Last year the New Lenox PTA inaugurated a series of young people's dances. They were held every other Saturday night through the school year. They proved so popular that they were continued through this summer and have remained well attended. On August 14th Guy Colby will introduce the "New Old Fashioned Square Dances" as an added treat for the young and old of the community. He will also be sponsored by the New Lenox PTA.

FIRE DESTROYES BARN ON FRANKFORT FARM

Fire, said to have been caused either spontaneous combustion or by sparks from a smoldering rubbish fire, completely destroyed the barn on the Albert Lindemann farm south east of Frankfort, Friday afternoon. In an attempt to save live stock in the building Mr. Lindemann was nearly overcome by smoke. Realizing his danger he got out by holding fast to a horse's tail and was dragged from the barn by the horse. Two calves perished in the fire. Neighbors assisted in saving nearby buildings when they formed a bucket brigade.

Manhattan To Stage 3 Day Home Coming August 20, 21, 22

All roads will lead to Manhattan on August 20, 21, 22 when the "Smokes for Yanks" Club will sponsor a three day Homecoming Celebration on the local school grounds.

A colorful parade at 5:30 on Friday, August 20 will get things started. A variety of rides as well as many concession booths will be on the grounds with refreshments of all kinds also. Each night a program of free entertainment will be offered. On Saturday and Sunday afternoons the State Champion Will Co. Farm Bureau Team will meet a strong opposing ball club and some speedy base ball is promised. On Saturday night besides the free entertainment a Victory Bond auction will take place. Everyone is invited to join in the fun on Manhattan School grounds on August 20, 21, 22.

MOKENA FARM OWNERS PROTEST DAMAGE DONE BY VILLAGE WATER

At the meeting of the Mokena Village board Tuesday evening Edwin Hirsch of Chicago Heights representing the Hirsch farm interests on Wolf road Mokena, appeared before the board to voice an objection to the village running storm and surface water through the Hirsch farm. He pointed out that a tile through which the village water flows is not adequate to take all the water running in that direction with the result that huge gulches have been washed in the farm land.

He further pointed out that the Hirsch farm property had been assessed heavily for emptying the water into the newly created drainage district ditch running north of Mokena. It was determined that the village water has been flowing through this farm land for very many years. Mayor Harry F. Mall, thought it would be a good gesture on the part of the village board if they would sanction payment of a portion of the assessment levied by the drainage district against the Hirsch farm in view of the convenience granted the village running the storm and surface water in that direction.

On the other hand, the drainage district had asked the village board to pay a thousand dollars toward the construction of the new drainage ditch claiming that the village benefited thereby. But as the village does not empty its water directly into this ditch, the board felt that it should not be asked to make any payment toward it. The matter was taken up in Springfield and an opinion of their attorney was read at the board meeting showing that it was the opinion of the attorney that the village was not obligated to make any payment toward the drainage ditch.

Should a dog owner pay dog tax for a puppy? That is a question which confronted the village board Tuesday evening when reports showed that quite a number of dog owners in the village had refused to pay the annual dog tax on the grounds that they did not have dogs but just puppies. The board ruled that the tax applied to puppies as well as full grown dogs and must be paid. So far over 60 dog licenses have been issued. Reports also showed that more vehicle license stickers have been issued this year than in any previous year. A total of over 188 having been sold thus far.

The annual Village tax levy ordinance was passed by the village board asking for a levy of $4900 village taxes for the ensuing year.

4-H CLUB PICNIC

The Will County 4-H clubs will hold a picnic at Gerdes Woods Sunday, August 8. There will be a soft ball game in the afternoon followed by a pot luck supper, games and recreation.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOARDS MAY SPONSOR LUNCH PROGRAMS

A bill passed during the recent session of the Illinois General Assembly and signed by Governor Dwight H. Green authorizes school boards to enter into arrangements with the food distribution administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to sponsor school lunch programs. The Federal Government will provide about $3,500,000 for this purpose, and the state will reimburse the boards for the excess cost of lunches which are furnished.

Former Tinley Mayor Dies In Texas

H. W. Wyman, former Tinley Park mayor and assistant auditor of the Public Service Co., died in Pleasanton, Texas Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Wyman was born in Tinley Park 72 years ago. While a young man he engaged in the railroad business and was working in the railroad station in Dallas, Texas where he met his wife-to-be. After their marriage they returned to Illinois. Mr. Wyman took up a position as assistant auditor with the Public Service Co., in their Chicago office and located in Tinley Park where he resided up to 5 years ago. After being pensioned by the Public Service following 25 years in their employ, he went to Texas.

He served as mayor of Tinley Park for a four year term and was quite prominently identified with the civic life of Tinley Park. He was a genial citizen and readily made and retained friends.

His sister Mrs. J. C. Funk, of Tinley left Thursday morning for Denton, Texas where funeral services will be held Friday.

Mokena Alderman Enters Navy; Creates Board Vacancy

John Marti, member of the Mokena village board, was called into the service the past week and left Tuesday for a naval training camp. He was elected a member of the Mokena Village Board this spring at the April village election. His induction into service will leave a vacancy on the board until the next election.

THEY ARE NOW WEARING NAVY BLUE

Wm. G. Abbe, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Abbe R. 1, Mokena, and Geo. Stege, son of Mr. Henry Stege of Tinley Park have exchanged their civilian clothes for "Navy Blue." They reported to the U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., last week and are now undergoing a period of "boot training."

Their training will stress physical conditioning and an indoctrination into Naval customs and procedure, but will also include the fundamentals of seamanship and a series of aptitude tests they will take as an aid in assigning them to the type of work for which they are best fitted.

Upon completing recruit training they will be given a nine day leave, after which they will be assigned to a service school for specialized training or be sent directly to active duty at sea or at a shore station, depending upon their scores in the aptitude tests.

Some Bluejackets who have had sufficient experience in a particular skill needed by the Navy are given petty officer ratings upon completing recruit training and assigned directly to active duty.

Buddy Writes How Plane Was Shot Down During Raid

Mrs. Florence Steele of Mokena received a telegram Wednesday a. m. from the War Department informing her that the commanding general of the European area had notified the War Department that her son 2nd Lt. Oliver Lauffer was missing in action since July 26th following an air raid over Hanover, Germany. Lt. Lauffer was a bombardier. Whether he was killed or captured is not known, but the War Department telegram stated that as soon as more details were available Mrs. Steele would be notified.

2nd Lieut. Oliver Lauffer

Lt. Lauffer left Florida for England about March 30. While stationed at the English air base he took an active part in the bombing of such great German military centers as Kiel, Hamburg and Hanover. While flying over the latter named city, July 26 his plane was reported to have been shot down.

Thursday morning Lt. Lauffer's mother was in receipt of the following letter from Wayne M. Plymale, Jr., avery close friend of Oliver's telling what he knew of the action in which Oliver was reported as missing.

Thursday night,

July 29, 1943

My Dear Mrs. Steele,

As I have been a very close friend of Ollie's for the past seven months and especially so since we have been on combat, I regret to tell you that he is missing in action.

You will probably find out from his squadron commander, but I feel it my duty to tell you and to offer my deepest sympathy.

I have very high hopes that he is okay now. I'm sure that you will hear of him through the Red Cross within a month. That is if he is a prisoner of war. Do not give up hope as American flyers have returned again and again to this country from one to six months after they have been shot down.

It is sure that as their plane was going down that almost the whole crew was seen to parachute out.

If you happen to hear from him please let me know as he couldn't possibly let me know for security reasons.

Keep your chin up and here's hoping for a happy landing.

I remain,

Yours sincerely,
Wayne M. Plymale, Jr.

MY FRIEND FLICKA

by MARY OHARA

THE STORY SO FAR: Ten-year-old Ken McLaughlin, given an opportunity to choose any yearling colt on his family's Wyoming ranch, picks the filly of a "loco" mare named Rocket. His choice merely adds to his father's anger, which is already aroused by the fact that Ken has failed his school work and has shown no sense of responsibility. It was Ken's mother who finally persuaded Captain McLaughlin that having the colt might be good for Ken, and the change in him has proved she was right. Flicka is badly hurt trying to jump the corral fence, but even Captain McLaughlin has to admit that the little filly may not be loco after all.

Now continue with the story.

CHAPTER XII

Ken would stand in front of her and say, "I am Ken." (That was important for her to know.) "And I am your friend, Flicka. I am so sorry, so—very—sorry, you are hurt, and I hope it doesn't hurt."

He found a nicer place for the filly.

A fence ran from the corrals of the cowbarn, straight north, dividing the Calf Pasture from the practice field; a path led along this fence, and, about three hundred yards from the corrals, reached a spot where several cottonwood trees made a wall of foliage. Under the boughs of the trees, the path sloped sharply down for ten feet or so to a flat area of beautiful green turf, through which Lone Tree Creek ran.

When the creek was in flood, all this flat part was covered; but now, in summer, it was dry, and the grass such a vivid green that, coming upon it from the dryer land roundabout, it was startling to the eye. Golden sunlight lay upon part of it; part of it was dark and pleasant with the shade of the cottonwood trees that hung over the hill and sent their roots winding down its face to bore underground for water. Here, without having to hunt for it, Flicka had rich grass to eat and running water to drink; there was both sun and shade.

Ken called that place Flicka's Nursery, and each morning and evening he walked down the little path carrying a can of oats to empty into the wooden feed box which he had set near the roots of the cottonwoods.

Standing as tall as she could at the foot of the bank, Flicka could just see over the top of it and catch sight of Ken coming. He could see her too. It made him tingle all over, the first time he saw her head—just the pretty face, with the blonde bang over her forehead and the dainty pricked ears framed in the down-hanging branches of the cottonwoods—and realized that she was looking for him and waiting for him.

Ken bragged about it that night at supper, but Howard said, "Nuts! She's lookin' for her oats, not for you."

McLaughlin answered sharply, "Oats, or the bringer-of-oats, in the long run it gets to be the same thing."

And Nell added dryly, "Are human beings any different?"

No doubt about it, Flicka did love her oats. As Ken stooped over to empty the can into the feed box, she would be close beside him reaching her nose in; but when he put out his hand to stroke her, she pulled back. She would not let him touch her.

The last week or so, all Ken and Howard had been doing with their colts was to lead them by the halter around the pasture, saying Whoa now and then, at the same time halting the colts; and making them go different speeds, from a slow walk to a brisk trot. When they had walked them enough, they took them back into the pens, removed the lead ropes and played with them, patted and whacked them, waved blankets around them, leaned on their backs, fed them oats out of their hands.

Right over the fence from the Calf Pasture, where the boys worked with their colts, was the practice field, and here, for many hours a day, Ken's mother and father, and the bronco-buster worked with the four polo ponies, Rumba, Blazes, Don, and Gangway.

At last the day came when the work was done. The four ponies were loaded into the truck and McLaughlin drove them to the station to be shipped with Sargent's bunch.

Then the little bronco-buster left. They all gathered around the battered sedan, packed full of saddles and equipment, and said good-by to him and wished him luck at the Rodeo.

"Don't take chances," Nell McLaughlin said. "But I notice you're pretty careful."

Ross' steady blue eyes looked at her in his direct and respectful manner, and he answered, "A man that monkeys around wild horses don't kid himself any, Missus. It don't do no good."

Then he grinned, "I may be in hospital agin after the Rodeo, but if I ain't, I'll be back to see how Ken makes out with his filly." He grinned at Ken and Ken grinned back.

Then he took off his sombrero, shook hands all around, climbed into the driver's seat and rattled off.

And the next thing that happened was the Rodeo.

Ken was entirely alone on the ranch that day with Flicka, when suddenly she couldn't get up from the ground.

It was the last day of the Rodeo. The Studebaker had gone into Cheyenne on each of the four days of the big show, FRONTIER DAYS, called by Cheyenne boosters, The Daddy of 'em All.

Ken went the first day and saw Lady and Calico and Buck and Baldy in the parade, ridden by four of the City Fathers, all dressed up in ten gallon hats and fringed chaps. He saw the famous bucking horse, Midnight, throw every rider that mounted him. But Ken didn't go in again, not even on this last day when there was going to be the wild horse race, and it annoyed his father; but McLaughlin said it was up to him. If he'd rather be alone on the ranch than at the Rodeo with his family, why, he could suit himself. But one thing was certain, no one was going to stay with him—not Gus or Tim either, because they'd both been promised the day off. Gus would be back on the four o'clock bus to milk the cows, and until then Ken would be alone.

Ken said he didn't mind—he'd have Flicka.

Ken stood by the car to see them off, and, the last thing, his father stuck his head out the window and called to him, "All right, kid—leaving you in charge!—it's all yours!" And the Studebaker, carrying his mother and father and Howard and Gus and Tim slid down the hill, rattled over the cattle guard and bowled smoothly down the road.

Ken stood there, watching it until it disappeared. How different everything was now that they had gone. All yours . . . He felt the responsibility his father had laid upon him . . . he was in charge. The two dogs, Kim, the collie who looked like a coyote, and Chaps, the black spaniel, were standing beside him. They too were watching the empty road, and they knew the difference—the road with the Studebaker on it, going or coming, the road empty, and silence all around.

Ken went up to his room and stood before his book shelf. He picked out the "Jungle Book," then ran downstairs and out, across the Green, into the Calf Pasture, and down the path by the fence to Flicka's Nursery. She was drinking at the brook when he came.

He greeted her with a stream of talk; he visited with her a while, standing as close to her as she would let him. Then he seated himself on the bank of the hill under the cottonwoods and began to read.

Flicka wandered around her nursery. Sometimes she wanted sunshine, and stood under the dappled golden light until she was warmed through, then a few steps took her into the shade of the trees. Ken, glancing up, saw her standing quite near, watching him. He began to read aloud to her, and her ears came forward sharply as if she was listening.

Flicka's head turned. As Ken's voice went on, she moved over to the empty feed box, sniffed it, put out a long pink tongue and licked up a few stray grains left over from her breakfast. Then she stood quietly, broadside to Ken, switching her cream-colored tail to keep off the flies.

Now and then Ken stopped reading, put his book down and lay back on the hill with his arms under his head, looking up through the branches of the trees. He could see a patch of blue sky with a little vague half moon floating in it, the daytime moon, called the Children's Moon, because it is the only moon most children ever see. At first he thought it was a little soft cloud.

It was another hot day, but down here it was pleasant and shady.

There wasn't a sound, except for the ripple of the stream where it ran over stones and shallow sandy places, now and then the splash of a trout that flipped out and in again, and, all the time, a faint hum, the buzzing of the racing flies that were always in the out-of-doors. It was a sound that went with summer—part of the silence.

He sighed. Well—it was time to eat—he must go up to the house and get his lunch.

Flicka was still standing up when he left. When he came back, running down the path with the dogs at his heels, his eyes were fastened on the spot just over the brow of the hill where he so often saw Flicka's face watching for him, but it wasn't there.

He ran down the hill and saw that she was flat on her side.

As she heard him coming she made an effort to get up and fell back again.

It stopped Ken dead in his tracks. Then he ran to her and fell on his knees beside her. "Oh, Flicka," he cried, "what is the matter, Flicka? What's happened to you?"

She was dying . . . she had been dying all along—or, something had happened while he was away at lunch . . . perhaps she'd fallen and hurt herself again . . . perhaps her back was broken . . .

Hardly knowing what he was doing, he patted her face and kissed it. He went behind her, crouched down, put his arms around her head and held it.

At last he went back to the bank of the hill and sat down, wishing that the afternoon would hurry by and that Gus would come. The bus would drop him at four o'clock out on the highway. It would take him a half hour to walk to the house, change into his bluejeans (he'd be all dressed up in a tight shiny blue serge suit with a ten-gallon hat and fine shoes) and be ready to milk the cows. Ken was to bring the cows in and have them waiting in the corral, and he was to measure out the cow feed and put it in the feed boxes for the cows, so Gus would have nothing to do but drive them in and milk them.

Flicka seemed to have gone to sleep. Presently Ken lay down on the hillside and fell asleep too.

A sound came into his sleep. A loud, distressed crying. It got louder and louder and then was a terrible, anguished howling, and Ken was sitting up straight, wide awake, and tense with fear. It wasn't anything to do with Flicka, but she too was holding her head up from the ground, listening.

It was a cow bellowing. The sound came from the east, beyond the Calf Pasture. That was Crosby's land. It wasn't one of the Goose Bar cows then.

Ken was frightened and sickened by the sound. Something awful must be happening. What? Ought he to go and find out? (You're in charge—) Maybe the mountain lion. His thoughts jumped to the Winchester . . . where was it? . . . in the back of the Studebaker . . . no, no, the officers had been shooting with it and afterwards his father had put all the guns back in the gun-rack in the dining room . . . yes . . . he could get it, could go see what was the matter . . .

The boy got slowly to his feet. Should he get the Winchester first? Or go to the cow first? Would he be able to use the Winchester? It was heavy . . . perhaps better to get his own little twenty-two . . . perhaps go first and see what was the matter . . .

Indecision paralyzed him; then suddenly he came to life, turned and ran eastward. He flew along the edge of the brook, crossed and recrossed wherever the footing was best. Some places the willows crowded down thick to the edge of the stream and he had to go around. The bellowing continued. Well . . . anyway, if it was the wildcat it hadn't got her . . . she was making plenty of noise . . . maybe it had got her calf.

Ken ran fast so he wouldn't be frightened. He saw the red hide of a Hereford cow—not one of their own Guernseys. She was standing on the edge of the creek where a barbed wire fence crossed it. As Ken rolled under the fence and went around to her, he couldn't see that anything was the matter—then he saw, and it made him sick.

The bottom strand of the wire fence was broken; some other old wires were tangled with it, and the whole web of wire was wrapped around the cow's udder.

Ken put his hand to the hind pocket of his overalls. He had been told by his father, "never let me catch you out without a pair of wire-cutters in your pants pocket." But the cutters weren't there. He remembered, clean bluejeans this morning, and the cutters lying on the table in his room. He headed for the cowbarn; there would be cutters there. While he ran he was wishing that Gus would come. He wondered if he should wait for Gus to cut the cow loose—it's all yours . . . No, he'd do it himself.

It took him fifteen minutes to get back to the cow with the cutters. Then he had been running so hard, he had to kneel beside her for a few minutes until his breath came easily and his hands were steady enough to begin work.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

GOD SHOWS HIS PEOPLE THE WAY

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 13:17-22; 15:17-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation.—Exodus 15:2.

The destinies of the nations are in the hands of God. Warriors are mighty in battle, counselors are quick to declare their wisdom, and diplomats are clever in the manipulation of wealth and people. But when they have all exercised to the limit their ingenuity and power they have only succeeded in bringing us "blood, sweat and tears" as the portion of all mankind.

Israel was about to be delivered from the bondage of Egypt, and God through His leader Moses was ready to be their guide. Even so He guides every believer in Christ. We may learn three things from this lesson.

I. God Has a Plan (Exod. 13:17-19).

There was a direct, easy road along the coast of the Mediterranean up to Canaan, but God with His pillar of cloud and fire did not lead out in that way.

How strange that He should take them by a longer, more difficult way! Not at all. He knew the danger of the easy way. It was there that the warlike Philistines would be lying in ambush. Such immediate conflict would discourage Israel and tempt them to return to the fleshpots of Egypt. So He took them the other way.

Note that God's guidance for them was one of intelligent planning, not just impulse or chance. He knew what to do, and He did it, for their good.

God has a plan, not only for the nations, but also for individuals, for your life and mine. Let us find His will for us, for it is good, acceptable and perfect (Rom. 12:1, 2).

Note the honoring of the faith of Joseph in God's promise (v. 19). The memory of his assurance was a blessing to his descendants, and they honored it and him. What will our descendants have to say about our faith in God?

II. God Provides Guidance (Exod. 13:20-22).

God's plan is made known to His people as they follow Him step by step. This means that there must be guidance, moment by moment, if His plan is to be worked out. He gives such guidance and it is only when His children fail to follow it that the pattern of life becomes confused.

The field of divine guidance is one in which Christians have widely divergent experiences. Some know the sweet, unconfused daily experience of God's hand upon them, caring for even the minor details (or are they minor?) of life. Others have known the directive power of God in some life crisis, but not in the ordinary affairs of life. Many, and perhaps most, think of divine guidance as a spiritual theory of which the preacher talks, but know nothing of it in their own lives.

What makes this great difference? Faith—or the lack of it. Those who trust God accept and receive His blessed leadership moment by moment. It is as simple as that. Others reach out and take it when the pressure of life makes them cast themselves on God. Others simply muddle along "doing their best," which is not their best, for God is not in it.

The pillar of cloud, which became luminous at night, was ideal for the guidance of Israel. It provided shade by day from the hot sun, and a sure guide in the darkness of the night.

III. God Gives Joyous Victory (Exod. 15:17-22a).

Israel soon came against the insurmountable barrier (humanly speaking) of the Red sea. Then Pharaoh, regretting that he had released them, came up after them—an impossible situation, and the people began to berate Moses. This time he stood fast in his faith and said: "Stand still and see the salvation of Jehovah"—and it came!

Then followed the song of victorious joy, which Moses wrote and the people sang. Deliverance brings joy, and forget it not, God is able to deliver those who put their trust in Him.

The application to our spiritual lives is a blessed one. Setting out on God's way does not mean that one will not have trials. They come, and quickly. We do not get farther than our Red sea when the world sees an opportunity to draw us back and comes charging at us from the rear, like Pharaoh. What to do? Trust God, and He will drown the Pharaoh who pursues you in the very Red sea which is now your difficulty. He will bring you through dryshod if you count on Him.

Fearful, fretting, fussing Christian, why not "stand still" and let God work out your salvation. You cannot bear the burdens of all the world. He can, and will set you free so that you too may go forward for Him.

Tinley Park News

Mrs. Henry Bruggeman is leaving today for a few weeks vacation in Michigan.

Kenneth Klaviter of Chicago is spending two weeks with his grandmother Mrs. A. Lucius and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hannum and daughter of Chicago visited with the former's brother Roy Hannum last Saturday evening.

The Ladies Aid of the Zion Lutheran church held their picnic in the Linden Gardens Wednesday afternoon. A fine pot luck luncheon was served at noon after which the monthly meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. A. Wagner.

After the meeting the entertainment committee Mrs. Wm. Rick, Mrs. Geo. Wannemacher and Mrs. Harry Mager planned the playing of buncos. Many of the ladies went home with lovely prizes. Each member was asked to bring a guest. Among those present were Mrs. Combs, Mrs. Poorman, Mrs. Hirsch, Mrs. Stover, Mrs. Joseph Scott and Mrs. Emmy Oestreich. The ladies were also honored by the presence of Oscar Olson on furlough from Panama.

Mrs. Wm. Lanfrusti, Pub. chairman The Bremen Victory Girls 4-Hers held a meeting at the Tinley Park school the last of July.

The President Alfreda Willman opened the meeting with the 4-H pledge and the pledge of allegiance. The meeting was then given over to the program chairman, June Johnson.

Among the demonstrations were a table setting by Patsy Tolen and Norma Bartholomew. Gingerbread by Alfreda Willman, Jo-An Boner, Barbara Bartholomew and Jean Elmore.

A fashion show was next on the meeting. Jayette Olson had a two piece dress which was very attractive. Rita Kopp had slacks which were made over from a dress. The entire cost being $25. June Johnson had a two piece dress in red and white checked material and Jean Elmore had a brown pinafore with white print.

There was a very interesting flower arrangement by Jayette Olson and a table of very delicious Quick Breads by the girls.

The entertainment included piano solos by Rita Kopp and June Johnson and Wilma Dener favored with a dance accompanied by Rita Kopp. Songs were sung by the entire group.

Miss Gertrude Lucius spent this week at the Methodist Institute at New Lenox Camp Grounds as a representative of the Tinley Park Methodist Young People's Fellowship group.

Mrs. Frank Mancke returned Monday from Minneapolis, Minn. where she spent the weekend with her brother Harold Boyer who is stationed at the University of Minnesota. He is in the Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zima are the parents of a son born July 17 in St. Francis hospital. Mrs. Zima is the former Bette Nugent of Tinley Park.

Joan Dechant was honored at a surprise Handkerchief shower on her 12th birthday August 1. She also received many other lovely gifts.

Mothers of pre-school children are asked not to forget the Infant Welfare Station Aug. 12 at the Tinley Park School from 1 to 3 p.m. This will be under the direction of Dr. Schneider and Nurse O'Connor.

Mrs. Oliver, chairman The VFW Auxiliary 2791 of Tinley Park had six visitors at their July 28 social night. Two were a complete surprise. Martha Allman, Dept. Assistant Guard also is the Jr. Past Pres. of Hyde Park Kenwood Aux., and Grace Bradley, Past Pres. of Fletcher Sullivan Aux. 2580, Midlothian.

Dorothy Zimmerman, Jean Eichoff Mrs. Chancellor and May Prox, President of Chicago Heights Aux. were the other four guests who stayed to enjoy the buncos and refreshments with us.

Don't forget those applications for new members. Bring them in and get in the lead in our membership drive. Important business will be discussed next meeting Aug. 11, 1943.

Viola Carr, Pres.

Mrs. W. W. Kester entertained at luncheon in her home last Friday afternoon in honor of her mother Mrs. Katherine Buck of Washington, D. C. who is spending several weeks with the Kester family. Guests were: Miss Sophronia McCroskey of Aurora, Ill. girlhood friend of Mrs. Buck and Mrs. Wm. Semmler of Mokena, a friend of Miss McCroskey for many years. A very pleasant afternoon was spent reminiscing and visiting and later the luncheon was much enjoyed at which time Mr. Kester joined the group.

A meeting of the Program committee of the Tinley Park Woman's Club was held last Wednesday afternoon in the home of the president Mrs. Brown Campbell. A fine program is in the process of making according to plans made that afternoon. In order to co-operate with war curtailments, many of the meetings will be held this season in the members homes.

Lt. (j. g.) E. J. Ryan has arrived at the U. S. Naval Section Base at Panama City, Fla. to take up his duties as Mine Warfare Officer. It was announced this week by Com. W. H. Henszey, Commander of the base.

Lt. Ryan is a graduate of the Marine Warfare school at Yorktown, Va. and has had duty at the U. S. Naval Section Base at Galveston, Texas. He is a native of Tinley Park.

He was accompanied here by Mrs. Ryan and they are residing in Panama City, Fla.

The RNA Juvenile picnic will be held Wednesday, Aug. 11 at Saenger Grove. All RNA members, juveniles and their parents are welcome to attend. The Grove will be open at 11 a.m.

Miss Barbara Frietag enjoyed her first ride in an airplane last Sunday when pilot Roy Cleveland of Tinley Park took her up for a ride at the Harvey air port. Barbara is still all thrilled about it.

Miss Betty Day of Wauka, Wis., is a guest of her cousin, Mr. John Stuckey and family. Last Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stuckey entertained at a party on their lawn in her honor. Many Games were enjoyed after which refreshments were served, chief among which was watermelon. A fine time was enjoyed by those present, Miss Day proving to be a very charming honored guest.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our relatives, neighbors and friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us in the recent illness and death of our beloved husband and father Oscar Olson, Sr. We also thank all who sent floral offerings, those who so kindly donated the use of their cars and Rev. Albert Buddenhagen for his comforting words.

SERVICEMEN'S NEWS

Dear Friends: Your lovely gift package arrived today as a very pleasant surprise. Thank you all for your thoughtfulness. I'm also getting the Tinley Park Times every week and enjoy reading about the folks at home.

We're kept very busy out here consequently I've gotten over being homesick, except when I get to thinking about it and let myself realize that I will be away for some time.

In the morning we go on the flight line for five hours, three of which are usually spent in the air. I am happy to say I'll be finished with my primary training in two weeks and hope I can convince the Army check pilots that I'm capable of flying larger ships. If I pass my flight check, I'll be transferred to the 450 H. P. basic trainer at which we all look droolingly, so to speak.

The rest of our day is spent in ground school where we study navigation, meteorology; physics; theory of flight etc. We also get an hour of drill or exercise, eight hours of sleep and plenty of good food.

This Sunday the people in Sweetwater are inviting all the girls at the field to their homes for Sunday dinner. Arrangements have been made for every girl to have a home to go to. Hope I get one that serves real fried chicken and strawberry short cake.

Almost time for lights out so I'll say good night and thank you all again for everything.

I'd like to say hello and happy hunting to all the Tinley boys in service.

Sincerely,

Miss Adeline Wolak, Class 43-W-6 Bks. E-7, 318th AAFST, Avenger Field, Sweetwater, Texas.

May 2, 1943

Dear Friends: Just a line to let you know I received the Easter card and gift you sent. Thanks an awful lot. I don't have time to write a letter now but I'll write you as soon as I can.

Thanks again from a soldier in No. Africa.

Cpl. Wm. H. Sternberg New Guinea May 25, 1943

Dear Friends: I am writing you a few lines to let you know that I received your Easter Card and money order for $2.50. I want to thank you all for it. I have not been getting the Tinley Park Times the last two months, although it takes a long time to get down here.

I sure enjoy reading the Times in the Jungles. Hoping to receive the Tinley Park Times soon.

Pfc. Samuel Gresco, 36033223, Serv. Btry. 218th FA Bn. APO 41, care postmaster, San Francisco, Cal. June 5, 1943

Dear Friends: How are you all. I am fine hoping you are all the same. Just a few lines to let you know I received your beautiful Easter card and money order and air mail stamps. And I want to take this opportunity to thank you one and all from the bottom of my heart.

There isn't any news I can write so will have to close thanking you again for the lovely gift.

Yours sincerely Sgt. John A. Lehmann, 36304512, Co. F, 127th Inf. APO 32 U. S. Army care postmaster, San Francisco, Cal. May 7, 1943 No. Africa

Dear Friends: Just a note to let you know I'm still alive and kicking and to thank you for the Easter card and gift. You folks sure are doing your part in trying to keep the boys in the service feeling as good as possible. I'm sure they all appreciate your thoughtfulness and if they appreciate it as I do your work is more than serving it's purpose.

I'll admit that the fact that your treating me just like an old friend and neighbor even though none of you know me has a lot to do with my feeling's but I imagine if I had lived in Tinley Park and was receiving all the attention you shower on us I'd be just as pleased because it'd be from folks that I used to talk and walk with. My wife has often mentioned your thoughtful kindness and that too pleases me very much. It proves there's an exception to the saying, Old Friends are Gold. Some new friends are Gold with a sterling Silver setting. Thanks again for the check.

Respectfully,

Cpl. Wm. Sternberg, 16068430, 68th Troop Carrier Grp. APO 650, care postmaster, New York, N. Y.

TINLEY PARK METHODIST

Worship Service 11:45 A. M. Sermon by the pastor. Subject: "The Cause and Cure of War." We are all anxious for a lasting and righteous peace and as Christians should all work to that end. Come and hear the sermon and see if you agree.

Church School 9:30 A. M. Mr. Percy L. Jochum, General Superintendent. Mrs. Smith D. Gollahon, Youth Superintendent. Mrs. Arthur J. Brandau, Primary Supt.

We have a place for every boy and girl in the community not attending some church school. We are anxious to do our part with all the other christian churches of our community in giving every American boy and girl religious instruction. We ask the cooperation of the parents to this end.

The Women's Society for Christian Service will meet at the church Aug. 4, 1:30 p. m., instead of at Mrs. J. Lawrence McIntosh's.

The annual chicken dinner will be served in the social hall of the church August 12th from 5:30 to 8:00 p. m. We all know this will be an opportunity to enjoy fried chicken, fresh vegetables and home-made apple pie.

Dr. R. J. L. McKelvey, Minister.

MOKENA METHODIST CHURCH

Worship Service at 9:15 A. M. Sermon subject, by the pastor, "The Antidote to War." We are all interested in peace, come and see if you agree with the views of the pastor.

Church School 10:30 A. M. Miss Adeline Semmler, General Superintendent. Our Church School workers are doing a fine work, which is very much needed in making America Christian.

Church School Board meeting in the home of Miss Adelaide Lauffer, Friday night Aug. 6, at 8 p. m. All officers and teachers are expected to attend.

The Woman's Society for Christian service will hold their regular monthly meeting August 12, at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Sorenson. This group always has a good and interesting program and a pleasant time. If you are not now in some active ladies organization, you would do well to visit this group.

R. J. L. McKelvey, D. D. Pastor

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Love" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 1.

The Golden Text was, "O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: . . . Because thy loving kindness is better than life, my lips shall praise thee" (Psalms 63: 1, 3).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and everyone that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love. . . . No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us" (I John 4: 7, 8, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian

FRANKFORT

Mrs. Arthur Lambrecht

The Amite Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. Ernest Pfeiffer, last Tuesday evening. Next Tuesday August 10, Mrs. Fred Heisner will entertain the club at a social meeting at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Clark were dinner guests at the Herbert Folkers home Thursday evening in observance of Mrs. Clark's birthday.

Word was received here by the Baumann family of the birth of a daughter Marcia Anne to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Whitcomb of Marion, Ind. on July 31. Mr. Whitcomb was a former Frankfort resident.

Frankfort's participation in the State-wide blackout Friday evening was reported a success and mobilization of the citizens defense corps was almost 100 percent. The new air raid warning signals were fully understood with the "blue" signal at 9:15 p.m. and the "red" signal following a few minutes later. The village was in darkness for about forty minutes when the street lights indicated the test was ended. Aerial observation over the Joliet area reported the blackout was most effective from the air.

The Frankfort Firemen will play the Elwood Ordinance Plant Girls team under the lights this evening at the soft ball field south of the village.

Silver Cross Hospital School of Nursing Seeking Students

Silver Cross Hospital School of Nursing in Joliet has been included among the schools invited by the U. S. Public Health Service in Washington, D. C. to enroll students in the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps, now being recruited as authorized by the Bolton Nurse Training Act passed by Congress in June.

Through a Congressional appropriation of $45,000,000 Federal funds are available to pay all expenses and monthly allowances to nursing school students who enroll as members of the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps and agree to make their services available in essential nursing for the duration of the war. It is emphasized, however, that military service following graduation will be optional to those enrolling in the Cadet Nurse Corps.

Applicants must be high school graduates able to meet the admission requirements of the school in which they wish to enroll. Schools participating in the program must offer an accelerated course under which class work and essential nursing experience will be completed in 24 to 30

To Identify Future Army Fliers

Young men of 17, who volunteer and are accepted for enlistment in the Air Corps Reserve, will be presented with this official Air Corps lapel button to be worn with civilian dress while they are on an inactive status, the United States Army announces. The new badge, which will identify its wearer as a member of the United States Army Air Forces, is silver-finished with a blue enamel center. Upon reaching the age of 18, the young Air Corps Reservists will be eligible to begin their preflight training. If they are high school or college students at that time, their call to active duty may be deferred until the end of the current semester, provided it is completed within 6 months after they reach the age of 18.

It's common sense to be thrifty. If you save you are thrifty. War Bonds help you to save and help to save America. Buy your ten per cent every pay day.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Public

"Long Distance lines get busier every day. But with your help, we can give good service on all essential calls."

"Sometimes the circuit you want may be extra busy. When that happens, I'll let you know that others are waiting and ask you to limit your Long Distance call to 5 minutes."

"That's a good thing for everybody and I know you'll be glad to co-operate."

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

Senior Cadet Nurses will have unusual experience in special nursing fields for which they may express a preference.

Students enrolled in the school since Jan. 1, 1941 may join the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps and qualify as Pre-Cadet, Junior Cadet or Senior Cadet Nurses depending upon the stage of their advancement in the school. Present or new students are not required to join the Cadet Nurse Corps if they prefer to attend the Silver Cross school on the usual basis and forego the financial and other benefits the government is offering to members of the Cadet Nurse Corps.

Those who join the Cadet Nurse Corps will not only be serving their country patriotically, but will also be preparing at no financial cost to themselves for a useful and interesting profession that will offer many lucrative opportunities after the war because of the worldwide health rehabilitation work that will be needed. Recruits make no promises not to marry after graduation, and under certain circumstances married students will be accepted. The only obligation undertaken by the Cadet Nurse Corps is to remain in some essential branch of nursing service for the duration of the war.

The fall term will begin at the Silver Cross Hospital School of Nursing on August 23. Hence, those who are interested in joining the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps are urged to write at once for full information to Mrs. Alta M. Leonard, Superintendent of Nurses, Silver Cross Hospital, Joliet, Illinois.

"Tin Fish Away"

The aircraft torpedo, or "tin fish" as the men in the Navy call it, is playing havoc with enemy warships, transports and tankers.

And the blows of these lethal torpedoes will become more and more frequent because Electric Power, the mighty force of mass production, is working day and night. Speeding every operation of manufacture — the cutting and drilling, the welding and fitting — Electric Power is helping to turn out these devastating torpedoes in vast quantities.

Electric Power is the silent, invisible energy behind the volume production of aircraft torpedoes and other implements for victory. It is the vital force that has made Northern Illinois a great war production center.

MOKENA

The Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service will meet in the home of Mrs. Nels Sorenson Thursday afternoon, Aug. 12 at 2 o'clock.

The Blue Side will entertain the Red Side and the Secret Pals will be revealed at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooper, Mrs. Lilly Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. James Marti and daughter attended the Deadmore family picnic at the Messenger Forest Preserve last Sunday afternoon, as a farewell to Chicago, who left Wednesday for Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Cappel moved Monday into the Caroline Schoenbeck home.

Mrs. Jessie Sipple has purchased the home vacated by the Capps, and will soon move there.

Pvt. Geo. Graskie has returned to Mokena following an honorable discharge from the Army. He is employed by Elmer Benson on his farm.

Pvt. Alfred Maue and Pvt. Phillip Yunker have returned to their home in Mokena having been honorably discharged from the army.

Last Sunday, in the Messenger Forest Preserve, the Pinochle Club met at a picnic as a farewell to one of their members, John Marti, who left Tuesday morning to join the armed forces in the navy department. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Marti, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Neithammer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shevlin, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Martie, Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Spiess, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hacker Jr., and Mrs. Mildred McMillan.

Mrs. Rose Moriarty entertained the Afternoon Pinochle club in her home yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Edna Sjostedt was made very happy and greatly surprised last Sunday when she received a telephone call from her husband Edwin, who has been with the Seabees of the Armed Forces in the Pacific War area for nearly two years. He called her from a hospital in Mare Island, California, where he has been sent due to ill health. It is expected that he will be home on furlough in the near future.

Mr. Wm. Schmuhl is moving his household goods to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harold Spiess with whom he will make his home.

Another very exciting moment was experienced when Mrs. David McMillan one day last week had the pleasure of a call from Petty Officer James Elliott, of Park Ridge, Ill. Petty Officer Elliott has just been transferred from Honolulu and had served on the same ship with David McMillan of Mokena and was McMillan's superior officer, and incidentally, Dave has been promoted to Petty Officer Elliott's position. He reports that Dave is in fine health and putting on weight.

This experience all came about when John Marti was in the induction center at Chicago. When the Will County Board came up, P. O. Elliott asked if anyone from Mokena was there, and John spoke up and during the conversation John told him that Dave's wife worked in the building and Elliott immediately looked her up. Mrs. McMillan and her family are hoping for a visit in Mokena from this gentleman very soon.

Another exciting experience was enjoyed recently by Pvt. Robert Frisch who is stationed near Washington, D. C. He read in the News-Bulletin where his well known friend, Mrs. Alice Horras Smith was working in Washington D. C. and as he spent most of his week-ends in that city, he looked Alice up who was surprised to see Bob waiting at the telephone office when she came off duty. Needless to say they had a very pleasant time together, talking over old times when they were kids.

Mrs. John Marti entertained in her home at an informal gathering Monday evening to honor her husband who entered the armed forces the next day. The guests were the members of their immediate families and friends who dropped in to call.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carlquist of Gary, Ind., is spending their vacation with her mother, Mrs. Bertha Wallace and family. Last Saturday the Carlquists, Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Virginia Albhorn motored to Battle Creek, Mich. to visit with the latter's husband who is stationed in that city with the armed forces. They returned Monday but Mrs. Albhorn remained to spend a few days of her vacation with her husband.

Mr. John Walsh who recently suffered a heart attack is somewhat improved.

The Catholic Woman's Club met with Mrs. John Walsh yesterday.

The quilt which was being sold by the Wm. Martin Auxiliary to the VFW, was awarded to J. Burrows of Wooddale, Ill., at the card party which the Auxiliary held July 24. The latter are grateful to all who donated to this cause.

FRANKFORT

Miss Bernice Kampe celebrated her 16th birthday with a party last Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Rich. Wille, Miss Betty Day and John Stuckey attended a dance at Melody Mills Sunday night.

Henry Steinborn who has been quite ill is improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koehler of Blue Island visited at the Fred Stuckey home Sunday. Mr. Koehler who is employed in Kentucky is home for a few days vacation.

Change Game Laws

A number of changes in Illinois game laws were made during the recent session of the General Assembly.

The changes include:

A fifteen day extension of the open season on squirrels in the southern third of the state, making it last from July 15 to Oct. 15.

A fourteen day extension to the open season on rabbits, which will now extend from Nov. 11 to Jan. 31 throughout Illinois.

The trapping season will henceforth be the same in all parts of the state Nov. 15 to Jan. 31. It formerly was shorter than this in central and southern Illinois.

Under the new code, fishermen in northern and central Illinois will have a longer bass season. In the northern zone, the season, formerly June 15 to March 31, will run from June 15 to April 30; in the central zone the new season will run from June 1 to April 15; fifteen days longer than formerly.

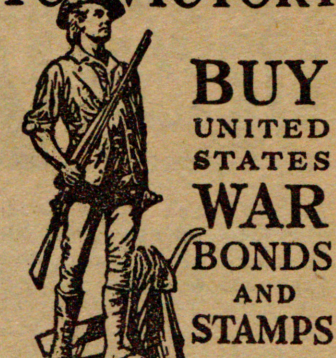

The new season for trout (except lake trout) will be April 1-Sept. 30, forty-five days longer than the old season.

Deliver us from evil

BUY WAR BONDS

Figure It Out Yourself. How can you effectively join in saving all the little children of the world from human slavery, death and injury from the Nazis and Japanese? Put more and more of your pay into war bonds every payday. Your savings will go to war in the form of war equipment and other munitions. How much more should you put into war bonds? The only ones who can answer that are—you and your family. It's up to you to decide just how much more you'll do to win the war.

If you were fighting in the Solomons or in Africa or forcing a landing in Europe you'd like to feel that the folks at home were back of you—all the way—you'd be proud of your family and your friends if you knew they were buying war bonds not at 10 per cent or 15 per cent, but with every cent beyond that which they need for necessities.

MORE than a few words have been written about the performances of American athletes on various battle fronts.

But the administrative branch of athletics at both West Point and Annapolis have set up a record that has been overlooked.

Maj. Gen. Fleming

Since we moved into the war picture, West Point, for example, has had three such officers moved into front rank—Lieutenant General Jake Devers, Major General Phil Fleming and Louis Hibbs. "General Fleming, when I first knew him in 1926 was then Major Fleming," Ray McCarthy, co-ordinator of sports for the war department, said recently, in discussing the trio. "He assumed office as graduate manager of athletics succeeding Colonel Koehler. Fleming was the dreamer; the visualizer. He planned and carried out the first expansive program of athletics and athletic facilities ever arranged for any institution of learning. He insisted that every cadet participate in some kind of athletics and he planned accordingly. General Fleming built the new beautiful ice rink at West Point; he planned and built the picturesque Michie stadium; he provided a magnificent polo field; a golf course, tennis courts, handball courts, basketball courts, etc. And he would have been building to this day at the Point but General Fleming went on to bigger things—to the building of levees on the Mississippi, to the Passamaquoddy, and the highway to Alaska.

About Devers

"When General Devers, a colonel then, took over at West Point he had been away from athletics for many years. During his cadet days at West Point, 1910, he was a good athlete, especially in baseball, and played shortstop on the varsity nine. "He developed the vast new athletic field on the Hudson below the cliffs at West Point. General Devers constructed a tremendously big field house where the Dodgers trained last year. He built new baseball diamonds. He went beyond even what General Fleming had done and he too, insisted that every cadet participate in athletics, but aggressively so.

"Then came the rumblings of war and late in 1938, General Devers bade good-by to athletics at West Point and embarked on a meteoric career. He went first to Panama to build our defenses in Central America. Next to Trinidad; thence to Bermuda; back to Washington and then he went into the field to train soldiers, and to build camps. On my way north from Florida in 1940, I stopped by Fort Bragg to visit General Devers. He had actually performed wonders within three months time in enlarging this camp to accommodate some 50,000 soldiers where previously it had accommodated 5,000. General Devers next went to Fort Knox to develop our armored tank forces and his work in this field is now known everywhere. Upon the death of General Andrews this spring, General Devers was named to succeed him in directing our armies in Europe.

Next in Line

"Succeeding General Devers at West Point was the mild-mannered Colonel Hibbs, one of the most charming and gracious personalities I have ever met. Hibbs was the ideal public relations man. He made friends for the army and for West Point especially, wherever he went. Nothing was too good for the army as far as General or Colonel Hibbs was concerned, but also nothing was too good for the opponents who visited the Point. Colonel Hibbs was tremendously proud of being an Army man, a West Point graduate, and he endeavored always and earnestly to register that thought, not through any bearing on his part but by his many generous and thoughtful deeds.

"Many men who have gone out from West Point are doing wonderfully well on the battlefield today but it must be remembered that all of those who have gone forth from the Academy on the Hudson in the past generation, were influenced and developed by their participation in the athletic programs conceived and developed by these three generals—Fleming, Devers and Hibbs—1925-1943."

Patty and Babe

"Now that boxing has lost Louis and Conn—now that we can't find anyone to run with Gunder Hagg, would you like to know the best contest left?"

The speaker was Bob Harlow, once touring manager of the PGA. "I'll give you their names—a meeting between Patty Berg and Babe Didrikson, best two out of three on three different courses. Here's the chance for some war fund to pick up plenty. I'd go a long way to see that."

THE average individual who follows baseball rather closely knows that Tyrus Raymond Cobb was the greatest hitter of all time, with a life-time average of .367. But how many can name the runner-up, the second best?

As frequent a guess as any is Babe Ruth. But the Babe didn't rate second. Neither did Honus Wagner, nor Tris Speaker, or George Sisler.

That place of honor belongs to Rogers Hornsby, who turned in a batting average of .358 in 22 years of service.

Cobb won American league batting honors every single year from 1907 through 1919. His top year was in 1911 when he hit .420 for Detroit. As a matter of statistical information, Cobb played in 3,033 games, was at bat 11,429 times and accounted for 4,191 hits and 2,244 runs.

Ty Cobb

Lifetime Rankings

Hornsby led the National league in batting during 1920, '21, '22, '23, '24, '25 and '28. He set the modern National league record for the highest batting percentage, .424 in 1924. He played in 2,256 games, was at bat 8,173 times, made 2,930 hits and 1,579 runs.

Rogers Hornsby

A much-debated subject is the lifetime ranking of the game's leading hitters. It's the kind of an argument that breaks out in army camps, in drug stores and on the golf course. Here are a few of the marks, established by players with from 15 to 25 seasons' active service:

Ty Cobb367	Lou Gehrig . . .340
Rogers Hornsby . .358	George Sisler . .340
Willie Keeler . . .345	Adrian Anson . .339
Tris Speaker . . .344	Nap Lajoie . . .338
Babe Ruth341	Eddie Collins . .333
Honus Wagner . . .329

Keeler was the greatest scientific hitter of all time. In explaining his success as a place hitter, Wee Willie (height, 5 feet, 4 1/2 inches; weight 140) made the famous remark, "I hit 'em where they ain't." He didn't have the power of a Ruth or a Hornsby, but his place hitting more than made up for that lack.

Ruth, the game's greatest home run hitter and certainly the greatest drawing card of all time, compiled a record of 714 home runs during his career, hitting 40 or more in 11 different years with the New York Yankees and establishing a record of 60 round trippers in the 1927 season.

Ruth's Record

The Babe appeared in 10 world series encounters, seven of them with the Yanks, and in most of these his bat played a highly important part. He smacked 15 home runs in world series play alone and finished his career with a series batting mark of .326. In the 1928 series his batting average was .625, an all-time high.

Lou Gehrig long will be remembered, and for a variety of reasons. He was much more than a power hitter. He had an unsurpassed devotion to the game and was without peer as a true sportsman. His outstanding performance—most consecutive games played, major league record—2,130, starting June 1, 1925. He played in 2,164 games, was at bat 8,001 times, made 2,721 hits for 1,888 runs.

Napoleon Lajoie batted with the best of them through 21 years of action in the National and American leagues. He hit for a mark high over .300 in a majority of his seasons, and hit the exceptionally high mark of .405 in 1901.

'Home Run' Baker

Lajoie led the American league in batting on three separate occasions and smacked 13 home runs, a big total at that time, in 1901, to lead the league in that category. Remember, too, that in 1913, J. Franklin Baker, third baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics, earned the name "Home Run" Baker and made his name a household word by hitting 12 home runs.

Two moderns have had a chance to move into this select society. They were Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio, now in the army.

Williams' four-year record is .356, and Ted was just finding himself in contrast to the veterans listed.

DiMaggio's seven-year record is .339. Unquestionably these two hitters had the chance to move into the all-time list until war came along.

Mel Ott, with .310, plus over 450 home runs, is the standout among those left. And that isn't overlooking Bill Dickey with .312.

Notes of an Innocent Bystander:

The Magic Lanterns: Take "For Whom the Bell Tolls" as a hearty action flicker, and you've got something to like. The acting of Ingrid Bergman, Gary Cooper, Katina Paxinou and the cast is big time. It all holds together fine. But if you want Hemingway's story, which called Franco some of the things he is, this isn't your dish. All very proper and sparing of the Fascist feelings. . . . Too bad it was released right after Allen Chase's sizzling "Falange," documented truth about what Franco's Spain is up to. The cinema has made Hemingway flabby, poor guy.

The Wireless: The commentators, especially the Britons, were full of contradictions during the first days in Sicily. They kept cautioning us that it looked tough ahead. Then they'd have to report the fabulous progress that had been made. . . . Bob Trout debunked the idea that the Sicilians were Fascist-haters who would jump right in on our side. He cited a dispatch from John Gunther to prove his point. Gunther reported that on the first night three Allied sentries had their throats cut.

Joe Goebbels, the liar who looks like a midget, kidded the home folks, but betrayed his panic to the world. His radio stooges claimed that all landings in Sicily were repulsed, save a few on the East coast. That being the only coast that was visited. . . . Willkie put this common sense into the mikes: "It is time for us to decide whether we are going to commit ourselves to staying in this war until it has been really won in a lasting peace and not in just an armistice." . . . The whimpering of the Axis short-wavers makes delicious listening.

The Magazines: Max Werner makes a point worth thinking about in Liberty. It is the Nazis, he writes, who are cheered by all this talk of a long war. That is their only hope now, Werner reminds, since the Blitz is gone on the Fritz. Werner guesses there will be a ninth inning in 1944. . . . Collier's is concerned (editorially) about Americans who keep picking on John L. Lewis. The editorialist fears that criticism of labor's prima donna may arouse new attempts to slow up the war effort. Such nail-biting leaves me cold.

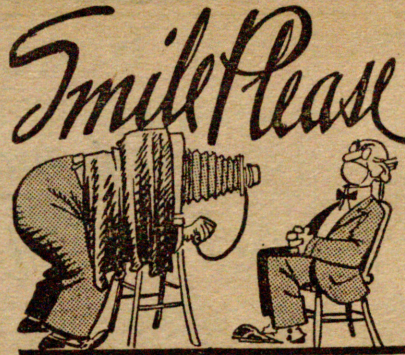

Beverly Hills Novelette: He is well known among the Texas millionaires. . . . After a long struggle to accumulate his great wealth he decided to settle down and marry. . . . "Where does an aging man with nearly all the money in the world," he once said, "find a woman who will marry him—because she cares about him—and not his dough?" . . . He finally met a lovely gal—considerably younger. . . . "If you marry me," he proposed, "I'll build you the most beautiful home in California—among all the movie stars—and we will give wonderful parties there—and meet them all." . . . "But that's not what I want," she said. "I want someone who loves me. A beautiful mansion and all the money there is couldn't make me live in it. If you want to try your luck, I'll marry you." . . . And so they were married. . . . The mansion is now his tomb. . . . A week after it was finished—she ran away with the interior decorator.

Studio Small Talk: They hear Myrna Loy will return to pictures with Wm. Powell in "The Thin Man Comes Home." And then one film a year for MGM. . . . Errol Flynn, Ida Lupino and Ann Sheridan are dickering to finance films in Mexico. . . . Robert Donat, the star, is in Algeria broadcasting news for BBC. He was first to air the Sicily invasion. . . . The "Victory Through Airpower" film has reconciled Gen. Arnold and Major Seversky. . . . Barbara Brewster (Mrs. A. Bloomington) has retained former U. S. Attorney I. R. Kaufman in her melting action. . . . Insiders hear that it may be a sizzler. . . . Edith Gwynn's sum-up of a certain celeb: "She's my best false friend!"

Brown Derby Ticketape: Add local fads: Mrs. Darryl Zanuck wears her husband's campaign ribbons. . . . Stop-the-press-item: OPA has abandoned price control over book-ends, artificial fruit and reading racks.

The Intelligentsia: John Lardner and Vincent Sheean are among the correspondents back in town. . . . Lt. Doug Fairbanks, on leave, appears younger than ever.

Faces About Movietown: Greer Garson in tears over a surprise gift of jewelry from "The Gang"—during the last "take" of "Mme. Curie." . . . Mervyn LeRoy's headache—shaving it from 20 reels to 14. . . . The Chaplins on a Beverly Hills corner chatting. And not a passerby stared. ("Whaddaya think this is—New York?") . . . Sophie Tucker, who attracts a weekly gross of nearly $40,000 in a local cafe. Previous stars there averaged 22 Gs. . . . Capt. Jimmy Stewart, who was always so thin—now very skinny.

K. P. MACHINERY

The new recruit thought he knew everything, so when he was told off to peel potatoes, he just laughed. "Ha, ha! You can't fool me!" he chortled. "I know they've got potato-peeling machines in this army." "Yes, they have, Smartie," said the corporal in charge—"thousands of 'em, and you're the latest model."

When the soldier talks about "the skipper" he means his captain, the head of his company. And that's just what the title "captain" means. It comes from the Latin word "caput" meaning "head." Another leader high in the Army man's favor is Camel cigarettes—they're first choice with men in the Army. (Based on actual sales records from service men's own stores.) When you're sending gifts from home, keep in mind that a carton of cigarettes is always most welcome. SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

The annual consumption of gasoline on highways, which has a bearing on rubber consumption, jumped from 8,500,000,000 gallons in 1925 to 22,000,000,000 gallons in 1940. Some figures to keep in mind when gasoline shortage is mentioned today.

In general, quality rubber has the same qualities and characteristics as plantation tree rubber, except that it has a high resin content, about 20 per cent, compared with 4 per cent in tree rubber.

The first manufacture of rubber footwear outside of the United States took place in 1856 in Scotland.

TINLEY PARK SERVICEMEN'S NEWS

New Guinea
May 14, 1943

Citizens Service Comm.
Dear Friends:

I am writing you a few lines to let you know that I am doing all right down here in New Guinea. But would like to be back in Tinley Park instead of here. I am in good health and feeling great.

The insects are sure awful, the chiggers about drive me crazy. I would like to tell you about the bombers over here and what I am doing, but I can't.

In this letter you will find a poem written by a soldier in New Guinea. I thought it was a good poem.

I saw in the Feb. 15 Life magazine issue that there was a lot of pictures of us, what we are doing in New Guinea. Am doing a lot of hair cutting here and I built myself a barber chair out of the jungle trees. Last week I cut the boys a Victory hair cut. A letter on top of their head spelling Victory. I had the letter T on my head. We took some pictures of it. We sure did look funny. As soon as we get most of the Japs out of New Guinea I think they will send us home. I sure hope so. And that day isn't far away. I can't think of any other news to say so I will close.

POEM

1. In the jungles of New Guinea Where you're like the living dead And you're always seeking cover From the Bombers overhead.
2. Where the natives drive you crazy With their jungle songs and dance And the dirty lousey insects Are always in your pants.
3. Where the heat is something awful And you stink from dirt and sweat Your smokes are always soggy And your matches always wet.
4. We're taking pills of otabrine Till we're fuzzy in the head And a man would shoot his buddy For a half a loaf of bread.
5. The mosquitoes are man eaters And their bites are fierce as hell And your always scratching chigger bites, And praying that they get well.
6. And concerning latest rumors (and how the third hole stuff does fly) And when it comes to chowin Well we're just getting by.
7. Where a T-bone is unheard of And we like our ration "C" But the President says we're doing this For the sake of liberty.
8. We're cranky ornery B-s And spoiling for a fight

And Tojo's yellow pilots Keep a man awake all night.

9. We once were healthy young and strong, And damn good hunks of men But now we're shiftless, dirty lazy A few more months and all of us Will be either dead or crazy.

10. So what the hell's the use of living When you're beter off if dead, Your poet bids you all farewell And puts a bullet through his head.

Your friend,
Pfc. Samuel Greco, in the jungle of New Guinea.
